

LUSAKA, Zambia, September 14 (Infosplusgabon) - Three people have died in northern Zambia's Luwingu district after eating pigs dying of unknown disease, the state-run Zambia Information Services reported Wednesday.

Mufili area ward councillor Justine Mulenga disclosed that the unknown animal disease has broken out in his ward and it was killing pigs only.

According to the Nguh villagers reported the unknown disease to the veterinary office in the area two weeks ago, Mulenga regretted that there has been no official reaction to the outbreak.
